

An IFT Scholars Project

Supported by a grant from Mars, Inc.

Summer Research Internship in Food Science

For traditionally under-represented students

Looking for a great way to spend your summer?

Want some research experience for your resume? Join us at the Department of Food Science at the University of Arkansas! During this 10 week program, you'll receive:

- $3,500 stipend, plus meal ($600) and room provided
- Conduct a rewarding food-related science research project
- 2 college credit hours (tuition paid)
- Opportunity for graduate study
- Trips to local food industry and regulatory agencies
- Fun, relaxing and enjoyable programs in the evenings and weekends

Program is open to sophomore, junior and senior level college students (under-represented minority U.S. citizens). Evaluation of candidates will start on April 2th. Starting and ending dates of program are May 18th and July 25th, 2008, respectively (tentative dates). Please contact the address below for an application:

Dr. Navam Hettiarachchy, University Professor
Department of Food Science
2650 N. Young Avenue, Fayetteville, AR 72704
Phone: (479) 575-4779, Fax: (479) 575-6936
Email: nhettiar@uark.edu

